Another motion was finally suggested to exclude all those who were full of whisky, and for fear this motion would break up the convention it was ignored. A sargeant-at-arms at this juncture had to be appointed and he was empowered by the chair to put out of the room every spectator present, and, in fact, all but delegates, in order that they might proceed with the balloting. Another rquesky voice from Wood announced that they would not permit men to come there who were not delegates and cust their votes as they had done in the preceding ballot. One delegate from Wood said they had no chairman of their delegation. Another said it was "false as hell," and violence came near below.

Considerable anxiety is felt over the matter, and it is generally hoped that the rumors are true, as the feeling is gradually gaining ground that the more railroads there are passing through or centering here, the greater will be the properity of the town. Another reason is that matters between the Baltimore & Ohio and many prominent persons here have been greatly strained for years past, the citizens having taken every possible opportunity to amony the railpossible opportunity to annoy the rail-way company with law suits and other-wise, and the railway company retali-ating. reral Piremen Injured --- Panic in Neigh boring Hotels.

Chicago, August 26.—Fire was discovered in McVicker's theatre on Madison street, between State and Dearborn, at 3:30 this morning. As far as can be learned, it originated in the small smoking room under and to the west of the ing room under and to the west of the stage. The dry and inflammable material of the room furnished material for the blaze and in a moment a fierce flame burst out through a side window in the alley. The flames apparently enveloped the whole building, and at a few minutes before 4 o'clock were leaping from all the windows on the west and east side the windows on the west and east side of the theatre. The flames burst from the rear of the building with such fury that it extended across the alley, and men of No. 7 were buried in the ruins. The freemen were more or less burt and fireman Jack Duffy had his skull fractured and will probably die. The total loss to the theatre building and its occupants is estimated at over $200,000.

The free burned fiercely about three hours. The walls remain standing, but the interior is gutted. The firemen were successful in keeping the flames from the front of the building and the offices there were not damaged at all by fire. The damage to the theatre and its contents, which also consisted of the scenery belonging to the Shenandoah company, is estimated at $200,000. The loss is covered by an insurance of only $100,000. Just how the fire started is shrouded in mystery. There are suspicions of incendiarism.

A Shocking Story, A Special telegram from Wellaburg says: Annie Bowman, a young lady of this place, on last Saturday gave birth to a child, then deliberately murdered it by cutting it to pleces with a pair of scissors, and hiding the body under the stairway of the house. Coroner Walk-inshaw investigated the case yesterday and returned a verdict that the child came to its death at the hands of its mother. The woman will be tried.

A Safety Gate Demolished. A Safety Gate Demotished.

A team belonging to William Hall and driven by a man named Norman ran off yesterday while the wagon was being loaded with barrels in the Henpfield yard, and running into the Baltimore & Ohio safety gate across from the Atlantic engine house, broke it all to pieces. The horses and wagon escaped undurt. The lamp post adjoining the gate was pretty badly broken up.
